Dear Children, Parents and Carers,

Gospel Reflection

Last Sunday's Gospel Reading is a return to the Last Supper, before Easter. As we hear of this encounter there is a warmth and a tenderness to the scene, as Jesus addresses the disciples and tells them He is leaving a new commandment, one which He wants lived out through their actions after His death.

Jesus speaks of love and extends this love to all people without distinction. He has already shown this love through the message of the Good Samaritan. The kind of love Jesus talks about is a love for all.

This commandment, a commandment for us all is new and new in what it strives for. Our love should be as He has loved us. This means we must show love to all, including our enemies. A love without distinction or limit.

"Love One Another As I Have Loved You." John 13: 31-33
